Dear Stephanie:

Thank you for Chesapeake Environmental Management's recent contribution of $7,370 to the International Center for Spinal Cord Injury at Kennedy Krieger Institute in support of a TheraStride system. This state-of-the-art therapeutic system has been designed to allow patients with spinal cord injuries to regain lost mobility. A harnessed body-weight-supported treadmill system, TheraStride will allow physical therapists to concentrate their efforts on helping patients achieve proper motor function and control and increased weight-bearing abilities for standing and improved balance.

The International Center for Spinal Cord Injury at Kennedy Krieger is a premier facility dedicated to the research and treatment of spinal cord injuries and paralysis in children. Unlike most other spinal cord programs, which concentrate on helping individuals learn to compensate for injuries believed to be permanent, the Center promotes recovery of function, even in patients whose injuries occurred years ago. The TheraStride will be a great addition to the Center, allowing it to continue providing patients the latest and best possible care.

Once again, thank you for your support of Kennedy Krieger Institute's International Center for Spinal Cord Injury.

Sincerely,

Sarah W. Oettel
